Our school musical was presented in March of 1970. The plot involved the misadventures of "the oldest, established, permanent, floating crap-game in New York." It follows the episodes of Adelaide (played by Claire Silvia) to tempt Nathan Detroit (played by Tim Walker) to the altar. Other main characters included Bob Blake as Guy Masterson, who is ultimately reformed by Debbie Gunstra as Sarah Brown, the Salvation Army lass.

cheaper by the dozen

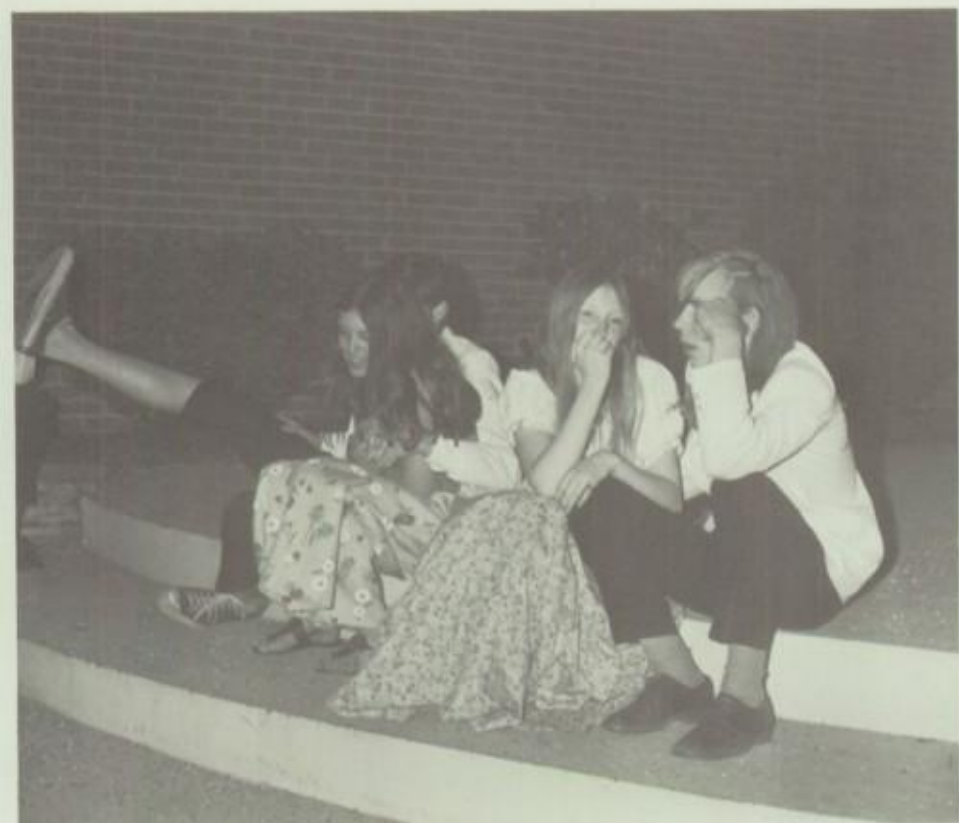

The junior class play was presented in May on the MHS stage. Directed by Mr. DeAngelis, this comedy was the story of two parents — the diplomatic mother (played by Julie Hinman) and the boisterous father and motion-study expert (played by George Church) and their family of twelve children.

age of aquarius

The junior class prom was held in the MHS cafeteria. The efforts of prom chairmen Cindy Bacon and Kathy Walling plus their committee workers shown through the dazzling array of lights and decorations added with the music of "Merging Traffic." Chris Hole was crowned queen. The members of her court included Bonnie Alexander, Diana Campagna, Chris Pelletier, and Terri Vandermyde.

homecoming

A crisp autumn afternoon was the setting on November 14, 1970 for Middletown's annual Homecoming game. The Islanders' 40-12 win over Bristol added another victory to the season's scoresheet.

The half-time events commenced with the Middletown band's salute to the alumni. Following, Jim Martin, Senior class president, presented bouquets to Homecoming Queen, Chris Hole, and her attendants: Bonnie Alexander and Chris Pelletier. Other members of her court included Ellen Curran (11th Yr.), Mimi Mimi Spencer (10th yr.), and JoAnn Bacon (9th yr.). Also, the winners of the senior-sponsored raffle were announced.

That night in the MHS cafetorium, the Homecoming dance was held featuring "Together."

The game and dance climaxed a week of spirit chains, carnation sales, pep rallies, and Saturday morn's motorcade to the Middle School field.

On February 26 and 27, the Senior class presented their play, "Harvey." After two months of exciting preparation and much hard work the play, directed by Miss Golda and Tom Sherman, was deemed a complete success. Alan Feinstein and Donna Caplan were outstanding in their leading roles as Elwood Dowd and Veta Simmons. Julie Hinman and Steve Wood were excellent in their supporting roles of Myrtle Mae Simmons and Dr. Chumley. The play lent itself to moments of genuine emotion and high comedy and was enjoyed by everyone who attended.

administration

This year Middletown said good-bye to its founding principal of ten years, William R. Loughery. M.H.S. has never known another principal and will rarely see a better one.

Before coming to Middletown Mr. Loughery had been a guidance counselor at Mt. Pleasant High School in Providence, head of the Math and Social Studies Depts. at Rogers, and Director of Guidance at Rogers. Mr. Loughery was appointed principal before there even was a Middletown High School. Middletown's unique system was literally built up from nothing by Mr. Loughery and the faculty. This system was adjusted over the years to meet new demands and problems which arose. But all in all Mr. Loughery felt that the Middletown project had been a success; that the education process at M.H.S. was truly a process to help students to do better what they normally do anyway by giving special emphasis to development of talents.

Mr. Loughery's main reason for spending over forty years in the education system is that he simply liked to deal with young people. And although he was very glad to have been in school during this time, he is looking forward to a well-earned retirement.

superintendent*

mr. philip coen, principal

On February first Middletown welcomed a new principal to the high school, Mr. Philip Coen. Mr. Coen is a graduate of Rogers High and received his master's degree from Rhode Island College. He has taught at Rogers, he was a guidance counselor there, and for some time he was their football coach. He has also coached football at Portsmouth Abbey and Brown University and has coached some basketball at Barrington.

Mr. Coen was familiar with Middletown High's system before coming here and was acquainted with many members of the faculty. On his first days at M.H.S. he was generally impressed with the student body and with the friendliness of the faculty. Mr. Coen looks forward to knowing everyone better and plans to keep the interest of the individual as the primary objective here at Middletown High.

LORING STUDIOS

A black and white photograph of a rocky shoreline. In the center, a large, smooth, light-colored rock sits prominently. It is surrounded by other rocks of various sizes and textures, some of which are darker and more jagged. The background shows a textured surface, possibly sand or small pebbles, with some dark, leafy vegetation on the right side. The lighting creates strong shadows, emphasizing the textures of the rocks.
